MacLean Power Systems Acquires the Assets of Foresight Products LLC

MacLean Power LLC (MPS) is pleased to announce the completion of a transaction whereby MPS has acquired the assets of Foresight Products LLC (Foresight).

Located in Commerce City, Colorado, Foresight is a leading manufacturer of earth anchoring systems sold under the brand names of Manta Ray[®], Sting Ray[®] and Duckbill[®] for the utility, civil and other specialty markets. These anchors provide unique solutions for niche market applications.

Barry L. MacLean, Chairman & CEO of MPS's parent company MacLean-Fogg, commented, "Foresight is an exciting step in MPS's progression toward becoming a more full-line global supplier and specifically supports the growth of our civil anchor business."

MPS is a global leader in designing, manufacturing and marketing a broad basket of products for the Transmission & Distribution infrastructure as well as related products used in the telecommunications and civil construction markets. MPS operates facilities in the US, Australia, Canada, China, France, Malaysia and Thailand with sales offices throughout the world.
